

Workers Day

On the 29th of June Sophia celebrated Workers 'Day's ingratitute and appreciation for all that the maintenance staff does for us. The theme for the day being 'Hands that serve are holier than the lips that pray.' A prayer service highlighting the theme and its relation to them was aptly brought out through a play, 'The Praying Hands'. This spoke volumes in terms of their dedication and selfless service all done with a smile. The day ended with a cultural program put up by all the building.
